Supervisor Burke made the following statement:

“Our Nation’s libraries transform their communities, providing places for opportunity, education, self-help and lifelong learning. Libraries play a vital role in supporting the quality of life in their communities. Librarians are trained professionals, helping people of all ages and backgrounds find and interpret the information they need to live, learn and work in the 21st Century. Libraries are key players in the National discourse on equity of access to information and the importance of literacy. The County of Los Angeles Public Library joins libraries, librarians, library workers and supporters across America in celebrating National Library Week.”

Therefore, on motion of Supervisor Burke, seconded by Supervisor Antonovich, unanimously carried (Supervisor Knabe being absent), the Board proclaimed April 15 through 21, 2007 as “National Library Week” throughout Los Angeles County; and encouraged all residents to visit the library to take advantage of the wonderful library resources available and to thank their librarians and library workers for making information accessible to all who walk through the library's doors.
